

A Geography Of Settlements

Classification. Traditionally, it belongs to cultural geography and is divided into the geography of urban settlements (cities and towns) and rural settlements (e.g. villages and hamlets). Thereby, settlements are mostly seen as elements of the cultural landscape that developed over time. Classification - Actuality - Definitions. A settlement is a place where people live. A settlement may be as small as a single house in a remote area or as large as a mega city (a city with over 10 million residents). A settlement may be permanent or temporary. An example of a temporary settlement is a refugee camp. Settlement is a place where people live and interact through activities such as agriculture, trading and entertainment. Settlement in geography. A settlement is any form of human dwelling, from the smallest house to the largest city. Settlements can vary in size from the very small to extremely large. They can be as small as one house and as large as a megacity, home to tens of millions of people. They can be permanent or temporary.
